

Privacy policy - GDPR & DPA (2018)

As of 25 May 2018, the new General Data Protection Regulations and Data Protection Act (2018) comes into force (GDPR & DPA).

We are required to advise how we store and handle data obtained from our clients' and other third parties or individuals and this document sets out how we manage this.

We are committed to safeguarding any data we obtain and that this is only used in the direct managing of our business operations and relationships.

We do not sell or pass on in any manner, information we hold on our system.

We do not use information from cookies on our website and if you are asked to accept cookies, this will be on behalf of the site or web hosting service. You may be asked to consent to the use of cookies.

We do not use any form of analytics for website traffic.

We will retain your data where such retention is necessary for compliance with a legal obligation to which we are subject.

For the purposes of carrying out our business, we will typically hold the following information;

- Company name and address.
- Site addresses.
- Contact details for accounts and sites.
- Bank details.

This statement is provided to advise you that you may refuse permission for us to store and handle your data.

This can be done via email, or in writing to the company address – details as on this statement.

If we do not receive any request, we will assume you have no issue with this.

We may update this policy from time to time by publishing a new version on our website.

Signed for and on behalf of Technical Drain Solutions Ltd.

Dave Murphy.
